

The Patroller - Video Alarm Construction Site & Vacant Property Security System

Construction Sites and Vacant Properties are now the prime target for thieves and vandals, as well as being an inviting playground for local youths. On average 1 in 3 sites will suffer as a result of this and such can cost property owners and site managers thousands of pounds through downtime and replacement equipment costs.

What is The Patroller - Video Alarm?

The Patroller is the latest site security system which utilises sophisticated GPRS CCTV equipment. It consists of a number of cameras & detector units which are positioned around the site. When the system is armed the camera modules detect any form of movement, a 10 second video clip of what activated the alarm is transmitted to our Alarm Receiving Centre.

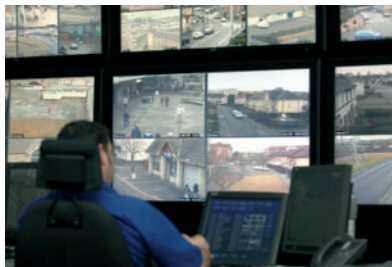

The ARC will review the video footage from the site and will react and co-ordinate Emergency Response Teams and the Police to your site in the event of an intruder.

Effective Site Security with RESPONSE for less than £1 per hour

How Does The Patroller - Video Alarm Work?

The system can be configured to operate in a number of ways in order to suit your requirements. A typical configuration is explained below.

- The system is armed by the last person to leave site.
- When one of the camera modules detects movement, the video is sent to the ARC.
- Within seconds an operator will review the live CCTV footage from the site.
- The operator will trigger the external warning siren.
- The Emergency Response Team will also be dispatched to site & the local Police (if necessary).
- Upon arrival the Response Team will conduct a full patrol of the site and secure where necessary.
- The ARC will continue to respond to further activations.
